

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A mobile phone holder structure and a clipping method for a mobile phone holder, the structure comprises two pressing clipping parts, a front cover, a control button, a partition and a back cover, two pressing clipping parts are respectively put into two accommodating grooves of said front cover, the control button is put from the accommodating hole of the side of said front cover, two openings of the control button are respectively locked the anti-reverse part of pressing clipping parts, and engaged with said anti-reverse part by hook, each spring on the partition props two sides in the orientation hole of two pressing clipping parts through each circinate hole on said front cover; said mobile phone is clipped by the clipping claws of the pressing clipping parts which is drove by using the mobile phone to press the pressing clipping parts, and by means of pressing the control button to drive the clipping claws of the pressing clipping parts to loose the mobile phone.